On your marks.

MaggiesFest at the National Cycling Centre on 27 June 2019.

This year there'll be an improved cycling competition for novice riders and a completely new race for accredited riders.

Prior to the night all riders will be invited to attend Maggie's private training sessions at the velodrome, where expert coaching will be provided and you can network with your fellow competitors.

During the late afternoon on the day of Maggie's Fest, Novice riders will be issued with their event jerseys and then compete in an initial competition to set their best 30 second power to weight ratio. The top 8 novices will compete for the Tour de Manc trophy in front of the cheering crowds during the main event, in a head to head knockout pursuit competition. The remaining novices will ride a timed one lap, in front of friends and shown on the big screen, with the best time winning the Maggie's plate.

Accredited riders will take part in an exciting elimination race, run by British cycling commissaires. It will be a real spectacle for cycling fans, with elimination of the last rider across the line every 2nd lap. The winner will take home a great prize and the N Brown cup.

The chance to cycle the Velodrome in front of a cheering crowd is something most people won't ever get to experience. As a rider, you will get great advice on the night from an Olympic cycling great, have professional photos taken by an award winning track photographer and be presented on stage with your medals. Win or not, we promise you an experience you will never forget.
